

The Police are back

Disappeared since 1984, the legendary English music group "The Police" is now coming back.

They have a tour around the world in 2007 with complete personal combination.

Sting shows his alto vocal. Almost all the songs are composed by Sting. Andy Summers with his electric guitar and Stewart Copeland with his drums.

Last time they had a show was in Melbourne, Australia March 4 1984. It was their top performance with an awesome stage performance in reggae, pop, and rock & roll.

A compilation album is launched together with their 2007 tour.

Miss them?

See the concert at Stade de France, Paris, France in September 29 2007, in Manchester, England in October, USA in November New York Atlantic City, Boston, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Toronto and Montreal in Canada.